NOW TO GET TO THE INTERESTING PART-THE DISCOVERY!
HOW DID YOU GET THAT STAR ON YOUR DRESSING ROOM DOOR?
WITH A HAMMER AND NAILS!

AFTER MY FATHER DIED, AN OLD VAUDEVILLE FRIEND OF THE FAMILY GOT ME A JOB IN HOLLYWOOD AS AN EXTRA!
"WHILE PLAYING IN SUMMER STOCK, A HOLLYWOOD PRODUCER SPOTTED HER AND SIGNED HER IMMEDIATELY!"

YOU SHOULD THINK SO–YOU WROTE IT!
THANKS FOR GIVING ME ALL THE INSIDE DOPE!
THAT'S OKAY! BUT I STILL THINK YOU COULD HAVE DONE EVEN BETTER WITHOUT ME!
WHAT WAS IT ALL ABOUT, HEDY?

THE BOOBY TRAP

WALKING up the path to Mary Dean's house, Johnny Hascom took another look at Bill Blowers and frowned. It seemed that everywhere Johnny went, Bill would either be there waiting for him or tagging along closely behind. And since Johnny principally chose the places where Mary Dean was likely to be, he was beginning to experience some annoyance with Bill's constant attendance. He was also beginning to suspect that Mary's presence had a great deal to do with this. Of course, it wouldn't do to tell Mary how he felt; she seemed to think that they made a glee-some three-some. There were times when Johnny wished he weren't so shy around Mary. But Golly! She just made him feel all feet and hands when they were together. Bill's constant presence didn't help any, either. Johnny had a lot of nice, flowery speeches memorized that he was going to make to Mary someday, but first there was his omnipresent shadow to comb out of his hair. As he climbed the stairway to Mary's porch where Bill now rested comfortably with his feet on the porch rail, Johnny made an effort.

"Why don't you lope along, wolf," greeted Johnny. "We'll try to forget that you were ever here."

With the air of an injured saint, Bill gazed reproachfully at Johnny. "Aw, Johnny, why do you have to say things like that? Besides, Mary just told me to be sure and stay and have some ice cream."

Something happened to Johnny's blood pressure. It shot up like the steam indicator on an over-heated boiler. "You made that up," he accused, grimly fighting down a desire to kick Bill's chair out from under him.

"Made what up?" asked a pleasant, girlish voice. Mary Dean, her slim loveliness framed in the doorway to the house, looked questioningly from Johnny to Bill. In her hands she held two dishes of ice cream. Johnny looked at Bill. Bill kept quiet and Johnny mumbled, "Nothin', we were just talking."

"Oh. That's nice," said Mary. She came close to Johnny, handed him a dish of ice cream, and gave him her special smile that always made his heart do a double somersault. "It's so nice that three people can have as much as we do in common."

Johnny sulked and jabbed his spoon into the ice cream. It was a fine thing when a fellow's best girl couldn't agree that three's a crowd.

In a few minutes the three became four as Mary's father appeared on the porch. He beamed at the two young lads. "Well, well, So my daughter has the two of you dancing attendance, eh?"

Mary flushed. "Now, daddy!" she protested. Mr. Dean patted his daughter's cheek lightly. "I don't blame them a bit," he said. "Isn't my daughter the prettiest girl in town? I only wish I could stay out here and enjoy your company, too." He sighed. "I've got to take down a little stuff from the attic and store it in the garage."

He focused his eyes expectantly on the two boys, but he didn't make a move to leave the porch. Intent on his own problem of getting rid of Bill Blowers, Johnny scarcely heard Mr. Dean's remarks. Certainly he missed their implication. He nodded respectfully, if somewhat vaguely, at Mr. Dean, indicating it would be perfectly all right with him if Mr. Dean were to leave.

Bill got the situation at once. He said quickly, "Let me help you, Mr. Dean. Of course, I may not be able to lift anything very heavy. I sprained my back at our last track meet," he added apologetically.

Mr. Dean chuckled heartily. "Well, now, I guess Johnny and I can get the heavy crates. Can't we, Johnny?"

"Huh?" Johnny stared blankly for a minute while the full meaning of the conversation simmered through his plans for getting

BAD SKIN?

Stop Worrying About Pimples, Blackheads and Other Externally Caused Skin Troubles

Try Skin Doctor's Amazing Simple Directions and Be Thrilled with the Difference— Often So Much

CLEARER IN JUST ONE SHORT WEEK

Have you ever stopped to realize that the leading screen stars whom you admire, as well as the beautiful models who have lovely, soft white skin, were all born just like you with a lovely smooth skin?

The truth is that many girls and women do not give their skin a chance to show off the natural beauty that lies hidden underneath those externally caused pimples, blackheads and irritations. For almost anyone can have the natural, normal complexion which is in itself beauty. All you have to do is follow a few amazingly simple rules.

Many women shut themselves out of the thrills of life — dates, romance, popularity, social and business success — only because sheer neglect has robbed them of the good looks, poise and feminine self-assurance which could so easily be theirs. Yes, everybody looks at your face. The beautiful complexion, which is yours for the asking, is like a permanent card of admission to all the good things of life that every woman craves. And it really can be yours—take my word for it! — no matter how discouraged you may be this very minute about those externally caused skin miseries.

Medical science gives us the truth about a lovely skin. There are small specks of dust and dirt in the air all the time. When these get into the open pores in your skin, they can in time cause the pores to become larger and more susceptible to dirt particles, dust and infection. These open pores begin to form blackheads which become infected and bring you the humiliation of pimples, blackheads or other blemishes. When you neglect your skin by not giving it the necessary care, you leave yourself wide open to externally caused skin miseries. Yet proper attention with the double Viderm treatment may mean the difference between enjoying the confidence a fine skin gives you or the embarrassment of an ugly, *un*beautiful skin that makes you want to hide your face.

The double Viderm treatment is a formula prescribed by a skin doctor with amazing success, and costs you only a few cents daily. This treatment consists of two jars. One contains Viderm Skin Cleanser, a jelly-like formula which penetrates and acts as an antiseptic upon your pores. After you use this special Viderm Skin Cleanser, you simply apply the Viderm Fortified Medicated Skin Cream. You rub this in, leaving an almost invisible protective covering for the surface of your skin.

This double treatment has worked wonders for so many cases of external skin troubles that it may help you, too — in fact, your money will be refunded if it doesn't. Use it for only ten days. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose. It is a guaranteed treatment. Enjoy it. Your dream of a clear, smooth complexion may come true in ten days or less.

Use your double Viderm treatment every day until your skin is smoother and clearer. Then use it only once a week to remove stale make-up and dirt specks that infect your pores, as well as to aid in healing external irritations. Remember that when you help prevent blackheads, you also help to prevent externally caused skin miseries and pimples.

Incidentally, while your two jars and the doctor's directions are on their way to you, be sure to wash your face as often as necessary. First use warm water, then cleanse with water as cold as you can stand it, in order to freshen, stimulate and help close your pores. After you receive everything, read your directions carefully. Then go right to it and let these two fine formulas help your dreams of a beautiful skin come true.

Just mail your name and address to Betty Memphis, care of the New York Skin Laboratory, 206 Division Street, Dept 369 New York 2, N. Y. By return mail you will receive the doctor's directions, and both jars, packed in a safety-sealed carton. On delivery, pay two dollars plus postage. If you wish, you can save the postage fee by mailing the two dollars with your letter. If you are in any way dissatisfied, your money will be cheerfully refunded. To give you an idea of how fully tested and proven the Viderm double treatment is, it may interest you to know that, up to this month, over two hundred and twelve thousand women have ordered it on my recommendation. If you could only see the thousands of happy, grateful letters that have come to me as a result, you would know the joy this simple treatment can bring. And, think of it!— the treatment must work for you, or it doesn't cost you a cent.

Bill out of his hair, and struck his consciousness with a bang. "Oh, sure, sure," he said hastily. "Yes, sir, Mr. Dean. I'll help."

"Fine," returned Mr. Dean. "Come along and we'll get the light things out for Bill to carry down."

After Mr. Dean had gone into the house Johnny lingered to bend a scornful look at this Philistine in their midst. "Sprained back, applesauce!"

Mary reproached him with a glance. "It was sweet of Bill to offer to help at all."

In a sort of rut, Johnny snorted, "Sweet, applesauce!" He studied Bill, still leaning comfortably back on his chair, feet on the porch rail, and gave in to temptation. As he stepped by he hooked his foot under a rung and tugged. Bill shouted, "Hey!" and teetered precariously. Johnny dashed into the house. Behind him, on the porch, there came the very satisfying sound of a crash. He felt better as he climbed the stairs to the attic.

In a little while, Bill joined them, carefully picking out the lightest objects to carry down to the garage. Mr. Dean, through some oversight probably, found that his entire attention was needed in arranging things in the garage; after pointing out what was to be brought down, he did not return to the attic. Mary came up, however, and, watching Johnny staggering under a heavy load, cooed at him admiringly. Johnny felt as though he could lift the entire house, Atlas-fashion. But that didn't square things where Bill was concerned. He kept giving the situation his entire thought.

The solution came suddenly with the discovery of certain objects in one of the boxes. Into Johnny's brain sprang a cunning plan to insure his rival's instant departure from the whereabouts of Mary. With ingenuity that would have done credit to Sherlock Holmes, Johnny executed his scheme and went downstairs, whistling with an air of happy innocence. He took his load out to the garage and set it down. Mr. Dean was not there, but Mary was. She smiled at Johnny and his heart went into a loop again.

Mary said, "You and Bill have worked so hard that I just insisted Daddy finish carrying the stuff down."

Johnny gaped. "What?" He said no more. There came a roar from the attic, and a crash that made the whole house tremble. Above all, came the unmistakably angry voice of Mr. Dean, raised in a fine bellow. Johnny grabbed Mary's hand and began to run. He dragged her across the street and deep into the public park that adjoined the Dean property. At last he paused. "Mary," he gasped. "I . . . I found some old fireworks in the attic. I rigged up a booby trap for Bill."

"Johnny! You didn't!" Mary's eyes were indignant. "Oh, Johnny, how could you . . .!"

"Aw, jeepers," fumbled Johnny. "It was just . . . well, I just got tired of never seeing you without that guy hanging around. I figured he'd get scared and run out. I didn't mean it for your father."

"Oh, Johnny!" Mary's eyes were shining. "You did it for me!"

"Uh-huh. And we're alone, even if it didn't work out the way I planned it."

Mary linked her arm in his. "I guess father will get over it. But you might have told me how you felt."

Johnny took a step into the clouds, but he tumbled abruptly to earth with the appearance of Bill Blowers running madly into the park, calling to them. "Hey, Mary, your father thinks I had something to do with that explosion!"

"Golly, that guy is everywhere," complained Johnny.

As soon as Bill came up to them, Mary spoke quickly. "Bill, Johnny's going back to face Daddy. Aren't you?"

Bill hesitated. He had seen how angry Mr. Dean was. The wisest course seemed to be to keep on going through the park, so he did. Mary looked at his retreating back. "You are going to face Daddy, aren't you, Johnny? With me?" she added.

Johnny cleared his throat two or three times. "You mean, you . . ."

Mary blushed and looked down at her shoes. "You were always so shy, Johnny. I thought you really wanted Bill around."

"Wanted Bill around . . . Applesauce!" Johnny put a protective arm across Mary's shoulder. "C'mon!" he urged. "Let's find your dad." With Mary looking at him like that he would have faced the Juggernaut!

Nothing like this ever seen before. It actually moves itself. Nothing to wind or attach. No motor. Just set it on the top step of any stairway, tilt the top part of coil to next step. Presto! As if by some magic force it "walks" or "crawls" end-over-end coiling and uncoiling as it moves itself from step to step until it reaches the bottom.

It Mystifies for Hours on End!

Greatest amusement for parties. Children and adults are fascinated for hours as they put "Mr. Walker" through its paces. You've never seen such fun as they have with this latest action toy. Get one, and be the life of your neighborhood. See all the other tricks you can do with "Mr. Walker" like making 2 of them "race" down steps. It's fun to see which one will win. Then, like a yo-yo, you can "throw" it and it comes back to your palm. Many other tricks explained in circular in package.
